State and United States Ta.a

cost of the State and the General Govcomparison, the three large States of New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois, the three middle-sized States of Michigan, Wisconsin and Missouri, and three other States, Kansas, Texas and Alabama. The adjectives refer, of course, to the population and wealth of each. Some of Pennsylvania collects her State revenues by indirect taxation, so that the rate per capita and per $100 must be calculated.

levies 72} cents on the $100 for State purposes, or $3.75 per capita; Pennsylvania charges 45 cents on the $100, or $1 80 per hend, and Illinois rates are a trifle less than 60 cents on the $100, or $2.23 per head, for State purposes alone.

A similar table for the other State

erage rate of State taxation is, then, apita. The taxes levied by the National Government amounted, in 1868, to $2 50 per $100, or $9 25 per capita, and in 1874 to $2 per $100, or $7 per capita It then appears that United States taxes, despite the recent reduction, are still 34 time as much per $100 and per capita as the State taxes. But the local taxes of each State far exceed those levied for State purposes, and hence the mparison with Federal taxation is a deception. The General Government has an army and navy, a post-office, an enormous pension list, and rivers and harbors, public buildings, diplomatic service, Indian annuities, national judiciary, Congress, and miscellaneous things to support, and a great debt upon which to pay

WHAT MISS SWISSHELM SAYS ABOUT Ir.-Women workers will sympathize with Mrs. Jane Swisshelm, who has been obliged to publish a letter in the Chicago Tribune to give notice that she does not know any one "who has any genteel cmployment for which he or she is willing to pay large wages," and that her time is of importance to her. Mrs. Swisshelm says, "I am not publishing a paper nor carrying on any business which requires assistance, and when I was I never employed man, woman, hoy, beast of machine because he, she or it wanted work, but always because the work wanted them." That her views on the subject of "Women and Work" may be clearly understood, she gives a brief resume of hereiffe as follows: I am fifty-seven years old, and have spent the fortune my parents left me in helping the slave to freedom and women into a position where they might help themselves. I gave my health and nearly my life in hospital service, am literally worn out, poor and entirely dependent on my own labor for a living, except at times when I break down altogether and am I little Purchas—A Washington uncertainty of the meters and the point to look as well as you will see you but yourself. to pay large wages," and that her time is break down altogether and am obliged to accept the assistance my friends are always ready to give me. I live in cannot afford new. If I were out of work and threatened with want I would go into a family to render such services as I could—cooking, dishwashing, general housework, or any specialty—and take such wages as I could earn, whether it was one dollar a week or fifty cents; and no employer should put me out of my place, wherever that was. I should never be found in the parlor when the kitchen was my sphere, and should take pride in being a good servant. Such being the standpoint from which I view life, I cannot of course feel sympathy with the fine lailies who come every day robbing me of my time and strength in listening to their recitals of sentimental sorrows. So to all women out of work I say, take off your furbelows and set about the first honest labor that presents itself."

Rubber Horses Shoes—Somebody has

Runnen Horse Stroes. Somebody has invented a rubber shoe for horses, designed as a substitute for the Iron shoe, and as a means of preventing the many maladies to which horses' feet are subject. It is even glaimed that horses suffering with cracked or contracted h and similar painful hurts, are quickly cured by the substitution of the rubber covering for the unyielding metal. The elasticity of the former allows the hoof to remain in its natural state or shape while protected from abrasion against pavements by the heavy rubber sole underneath. As compared with iron shoes, the cost of the rubber ones is stated to be about one-third more, and their weight is some forty per cent less. Owing to the nature of the material, the most accurate fits may be obtained, and, in respect to wear, the quality of the rubber used is intended to be such as will insure very great

THE astonishing putity of Tilton's language, the limpid phrases in which his answers flow, and the cautious yet immediate conception of his replies, make him in another way as phenomenal as Moulton.

Our Moundsville Letter.

The St. Louis Republican has published one interesting figures on the relative of the State and the General Governments. It takes, for purposes of omparison, the three large States of General Governments. It takes, for purposes of omparison, the three large States of General Governments. It takes, for purposes of omparison, the three large States of General Governments. It takes, for purposes of omparison, the three large States of Michigan Wisconsin and Missouri, and three her States, Kanssa, Texas and Alabama, the adjectives refer, of course, to the opulation and wealth of each. Some of the gigures are merely estimates. Thus enapylvania collects her State revenues y indirect taxation, so that the rate per apita and per $100 must be calculated. Of the three large States, New York wice 722 cents on the $100 for State three states of the published of the complex of the published was on fire. The alarm was promptly given and as soon as it was extinguished. But had the roof been dry and the right windy, the house, would to doubt, have been burned and with it the parsonage and perhaps several other states of the published of the church is was on fire. The alarm was promptly given and as soon as it was extinguished. But had the roof been dry and the parsonage and perhaps several other middlings, as it was so long before a suitable ladder could be procured. It seems the procured of the sentence of the published with the parsonage and perhaps several other middles.

there is no provision maile for extinguishing fires—not even ladders. We think that our council should see that something is done in that direction. The loss of one or two of our best buildings would perhaps cause something to be done.

The best (?) method that I have as yet seen presented for the settlement of the Normal school question, was that presented by "H." in his letter from Charleston written to the Skandard, in which he proposes to abolish these schools, and educate the teachers of our State in the Normal Department of the State University at Morgantown. I suggest to the writer that this would no doubt sait the section of the State in which the University is situated, especially the citizens of Morgantown, but as to the benging for the best interest of the State is very doubtful, and it is afill more doubtful whether it is the province of our University to educate teachers for our common schools, and it is the sill. One of the State professes that every college in the State professes to draw the teachers of our State away from our normal department in connection with it, and every influence has been used to draw the teachers of our State away from our normal schools. I do not pretend to say that we have not too many normal schools in our State, but I do say that the free school cause can not prosper without schools for the training of our teachers; and my experience in the matter is that unless the primary object of the school is training teachers how to teach, and that how to teach in our common schools, the training received at it is of not much account to the teacher; i.e., his knowledge of the theory and practice of teaching is not much increased. But it is not my intention to argue this question now, though I do think it should be discussed in our public journals. The practical workings and the great benefit derived from the Normal School work in other States is evidence interest; but the States have also, many of them, heavy debts, and they, too, maintain very costly reformatory, penal, charitable, and school systems, which cost the Federal Government nothing.

These figures show that a great field for economy still exists in the States as well as in Washington. Legislatures and Congress must stop extravagant appropriations, must keep clear of swindling subsidies and jobs, and must keep down taxation instead of increasing it. Even such a galled jade as the American taxpayer will sometimes wince.

NEATNESS .- A girl's every day toilet is a part of her character. The maiden be trusted, however fine she may the evening. No matter how humble your room, their are eight things it should contain—a mirror, washstand, water, soap, hair, nail and tooth-brushes. These are just as essential as your breakfafast

High Prices.-A Washington paper says: "An illustration of the way things very plain lodgings and wear a very plain go nowadays was shown by the conversa-dress from one to five years, because I tion of a so-called guest, but a real vic-cannot afford new. If I were out of work and threatened with want I would guest protested against the charge of $5 been weighted down by a set of heartiess leeches, who ingratiated themselves into his honest, unsuspecting nature. This made true Democrats suspicious of him. They applied the lold selage, "A man is known by the company he keeps." We hope Mr. Camden will hereafter profit by peat experience of friends in buckram. If any of the delegates or Senators from this section in the Legislature voted for the location of the Capital at Wheeling tempovarily, supposing thereby to secure it per maneful at Martinburg, they will find out by and by that this was but a ruse of the Wheelingites, and a very transparent one at that. If the Capital ever goes to Whoeling it will remain there. The B. & O. R. R. will always see to that.

Nor a manufacturing establishment in Bellaire is idle, all are running on full time, and are busy filling orders, says one of our Wheeling exchanges. This surely indicates the approach of better times.— Purkersburg Times.
